

Weekly Brief #11

 Date	@June 3, 2022 → June 10, 2022
--	-------------------------------

Current Status:

We finally finished the product development, having been very satisfied with the results achieved. We didn't expect to get such a complete product due to the short development time caused by the NDA delay. As a way to get an external point of view, we prepared a meeting with our clients last Thursday (June 9th), who also showed to be very pleased with the product. We also received usability tests resulting from an agreement between the MESG agency and A Risca, which served to give us some suggestions regarding certain features of the program.

Plans for the next week:

- Since we have been granted some extra days before the delivery of the MVP, we intend to use them to prepare the report required in this deliverable and to make some minor adjustments to our program.
- Now we need to carefully plan our presentation for the LGP challenge in order to best promote our product and capture the audience's attention.

Risk Register:

High expertise is needed by the client to maintain or change the product in the future	Using React instead of a zero-code application makes it harder for the company to make changes to the app if needed.	The company needs to hire competent developers to be able to update the system, which requires more money.	Possible	Medium	- Continuous development of a maintenance manual and an instructions manual, including critical snippets of code responsible for features; - The team shall follow good programming standards, including code documentation;	André Malheiro

Failure of our LGP Challenge presentation	We only have a few days to prepare our presentation, which will be very important to our company's image.	Sabotage the image of our company and disappoint our customers, in addition to losing the attention of potential new customers.	Low	High	Start preparing the presentation as soon as possible, ensuring it is as interesting as possible.	Entire Team
